

Blue Box Transition Schedule:

Initial version dated June 1, 2021, as amended February 23, 2024

Explanatory Note

Ontario Regulation 391/21 (Blue Box) (the Regulation) made under the Resource Recovery and Circular Economy Act, 2016 makes producers responsible for the Blue Box Program, including meeting regulated outcomes for providing collection services to local communities, managing blue box materials, and achieving diversion targets to improve diversion, address plastic waste, and recover resources for use in the economy.

The Regulation transitions existing blue box services to producer responsibility in three groups between 2023 and 2025 according to the “Blue Box Transition Schedule” (the Schedule). Part One of the Schedule (see page 3) identifies eligible municipalities and local services board areas and the dates they are to transition. Producers would be responsible for transitioning communities on or before the dates contained in the schedule. Part Two of the Schedule (see page 12) identifies eligible First Nation reserves along with their transition dates.

The first group of communities transferred responsibility of their programs to producers on July 1st, 2023. By January 1, 2026, producers will be fully responsible for providing Blue Box services provincewide.

Part One: Municipalities and Local Services Board Areas

Part One lists municipalities and local services board areas with Blue Box Programs.

Producers are responsible for transitioning communities in Part One on or before the dates contained in the Schedule.

The ministry developed Part One with a goal of balancing net program costs and materials managed over the three years.

The ministry also considered municipal preferences for the date of transition. The Association of Municipalities of Ontario (AMO) canvassed all municipalities and sought their input on when they would like to transition. To minimize impacts to municipalities, the ministry also considered expiry dates for municipal blue box service contracts and the ability for municipalities to extend current contracts (where this data was available).

Part One does not assign any municipality a transition date that is earlier than their preference, to minimize the potential for breaking contracts.

To promote economies of scale, the ministry considered geographic continuity when assigning municipalities to a given year. The intent of the groupings is to enable producers to contract for geographic catchments to ensure cost-effective planning and delivery of blue box services over the three years.

Part Two: Reserves

The Regulation allows First Nations outside the Far North to opt-in to receive blue box services offered by producers.

The ministry coordinated and engaged with First Nation communities that currently have blue box programs to identify the appropriate transition date to be identified on the Schedule.

Part Two lists eligible First Nation reserves, listed by community name and reserve name, and their transition dates.

Producer responsibility organizations (PROs), who will be providing services on behalf of producers, are required to ensure that an offer of service is made to First Nation communities at least six months before the applicable transition date.

This offer will provide details about how the collection services will be provided to the First Nation. Before a PRO can begin to provide the service, the First Nation must accept the offer in accordance with the Regulation.

The reserve names listed are the names as set out on the Government of Canada's "First Nation Profiles" website. That website includes the geographic location of each reserve. Where the ministry is aware of an alternate reserve name used by the First Nation community, that name has also been included in brackets. PROs, in their interactions and agreements with each First Nation community should make every effort to use the reserve name that is preferred by the community. First Nation communities outside the Far North that are not included in the Transition Schedule will be eligible to receive producer-run blue box services beginning January 1, 2026. First Nation communities interested in receiving producer-run blue box services must first register with the Resource Productivity and Recovery Authority (RPRA) in accordance with the Regulation.
